

Press Release

Paris, 13 June 2008

First edition of Société Générale Citizenship Week

During the week of 14 to 22 June, Société Générale employees worldwide will take part in a series of events to support the bank's Citizenship Week partner charities.

Throughout the week, employees will participate to volunteer work and fund-raising operations, or attend exhibitions and conferences, mainly organized by the Société Générale Corporate Foundation for Solidarity, on topics supported by the Group. The main associations sponsored by the Foundation, which is particularly active in the fields of school-to-work transition and literacy, will be represented. The Talents & Partage (Talents & Sharing) association, founded by group employees in 1994, will also be present.

In all, the Société Générale Group solidarity fund totalled 6.1 million euros in 2007.

Société Générale Corporate Foundation for Solidarity

The Société Générale Corporate Foundation for Solidarity, founded in September 2006, is active in the field of school-to-work transition, helping young people to move into employment, and literacy. With a five-year budget of six million euros, corresponding to over one million euros per year, the Foundation provides financial support to national projects as well as local initiatives, both in France and abroad. Since it was founded, the Foundation has provided support to 73 projects.
